Artist Statement

I am an actor, singer, and theatre maker from Temple, Texas now based in London, UK. I have been working professionally in the theatre industry since 2017. I am especially passionate about bringing classical theatre to modern audiences through innovative staging and adaptation, and I am drawn to work centering female voices and stories. Thanks to my classical training, I value text first and foremost, but I also pull from various practices including Michael Chekhov, Stanislavski, Uta Hagen, and Laban. I also have professional experience in educational settings as a choreographer, LAMDA exams teacher, singing teacher, and audition coach.
